

10 Point Plan

Point 8: Learning Something New

The purpose of life is to discover your gift; the work of life is to develop it; and the meaning of life is to give your gift away. With so much time on our hands during the current pandemic, we have never previously had the time to learn something new or to be so creative and develop ourselves and find out more about ourselves; the real likes and dislikes, whilst having an opportunity to make a real difference. I am going to show you just a very small sample of this things you can read, learn, understand and then if you want go on further to master or excel in. The list is not meant to be comprehensive, it is more of a taster menu to things you may not have tried in the past or even thought about trying. Why not use this opportunity to explore some of the mysteries and embark on a journey that has the potential to change your world and enhance the quality of your life and others at the same time? Why not try and learn something new today.
